

Finance & Capital Markets

Insightful, innovative and approachable

Our Finance & Capital Markets team has rapidly grown into one of the largest finance-only desks in the market establishing a well-founded reputation for ground-breaking, first-of-a-kind transactions with a steady emphasis on financial institutions and cross-border deals.

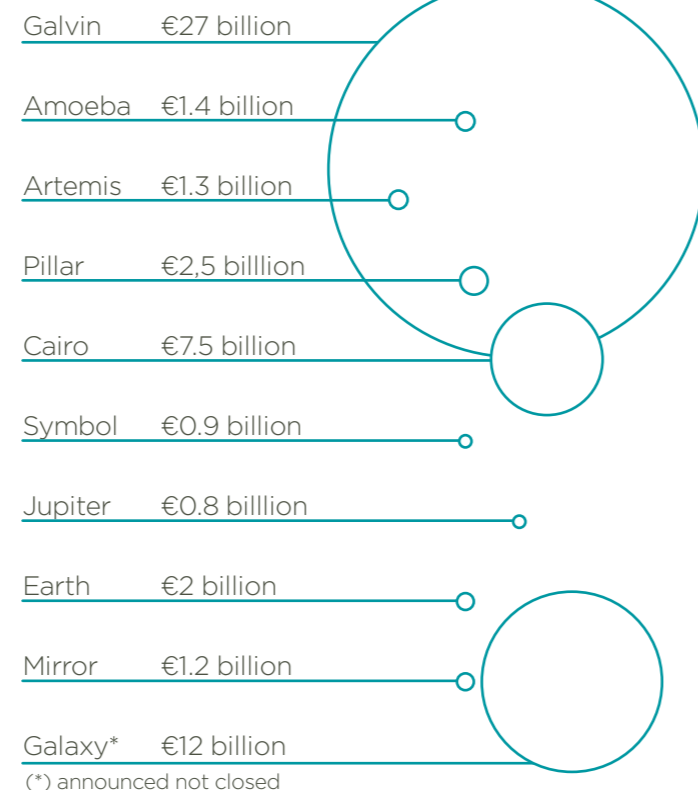

Our work, whether transactional or regulatory, covers all reaches of financial actuality from debt and equity capital markets to general bank lending (corporate, infrastructure, real estate, restructuring, export) and from distressed debt investments to asset management. We are renowned for our structured finance practice; our lawyers have an impressive track record in securitisation and covered bond transactions in terms of volume, asset class diversity and structural innovation.

We advise lenders, funds and investors at all levels of the capital structure as well as corporates, financial advisors, trustees, rating agencies, supranational organisations and regulators, catering the full spectrum of participants in the financial markets.

In depth knowledge of the NPL market

We are actively working across the board of the newly emerged Greek NPL market both in terms of portfolio types (secured, unsecured, consumer, SME, large corporate, mortgage) and players, acting for sellers, purchasers (at all stages of transactions: NBO, binding offers, successful close), servicers and financiers. We take pride in having structured the first NPL securitisations in the Greek banking market and the first SRT cleared and publicly rated securitisation. We worked on the first NPL synthetic securitisation and issued one of the first NPL servicer licenses in the market. We assisted Intrum in creating the largest servicer in Greece and are now working to structure the first transactions under the Hellenic Asset Protection Scheme enacted in December 2019.

Project Highlights

Innovative transactions is what we do best

We have successfully structured and handled numerous industry-leading market firsts in the financial sector; clients entrust us with these projects because our lawyers have a thorough understanding of the economics of each transaction and speak the language of the international financial practice while accustomed in taking views on novel and untested legislation.

Our work is focused and refined

We believe that exclusivity fosters expertise and market insight; the lawyers in our team do exclusively banking, finance and capital markets work. Each member of the team contributes expertise on different aspects of financial law, covering the entire spectrum, always in close interface with the firm's multidisciplinary palette. This is how we offer our clients a one-of-a-kind knowledge of the Greek financial market, its players and regulators.

Outstanding track record

Be it the licensing of a local NPL servicer or a multibillion recapitalisation of a systemic credit institution, our track record includes a wealth of precedents in the local financial markets. We have the capacity both in terms of expertise and in terms of resources to tackle challenging deadlines and numerous workstreams of large scale transactions while we maintain the flexibility and focus required to carry out niche projects for domestic or international market players.

We choose the best to serve the best results

Our team was revamped in 2016 with a core team of 4 lawyers working together for over a decade and has more than doubled its size ever since. Our lawyers carry valuable experience from working in major international and local law firms prior to joining Zeya and are regularly recommended and top ranked by major international directories including IFLR, Chambers and Legal 500; Christina Papanikolopoulou is named one of only three Women Leaders in Business Law for Greece by IFLR1000.
